I have a fun time exploring and finding things to sell on eBay. I scour estate sales, garages, attics and anywhere to find many unique and rare items. I jokingly say that I am a minister for "orphaned objects", finding them new homes where they will be used and enjoyed. Problems Virtually everything I sell is previously owned, so I understand that sometimes problems may arise. Please do not open a case. Email me and I will work quickly to resolve it. Your satisfaction is important to me. Feedback Your positive feedback is important and helpful to me. The stars count, too. Anything less than five stars or neutral ends up working against my rating, so if you can, please leave a good rating. If there is a problem, please message me. I promise to always give you positive feedback.

These relay assemblies include a modern relay mounted on an adaptor that provides a perfect, drop-in replacement for the original Taiko 180008 part, which is no longer available. The replacement assembly is slightly smaller than the original, which assures the part can be installed with no interference with surrounding components. The relays have silver plated contacts and have specifications that exceed the original Taiko part. The M500 with one set of speaker outputs uses one relay, the M500s with two sets of speaker outputs use two relays. This listing is for a single relay assembly. If you have noise, intermittent output or complete loss of output of one or both channels, a bad output relay is a likely cause. The parts are brand new and will be shipped in protective packaging. The listing is for the relays only, not the complete amplifier. Features Direct replacement for Taiko 180008 relay. Specifications exceed those of the original part. Smaller footprint assures fit. Adaptor built from double-sided FR4 PCB. Pins are precision aligned for perfect fit. Relay is UL Recognized. The parts can be replaced by a person with limited soldering skills. A soldering iron, solder wick and solder are needed to replace the parts. Use standard safety precautions wear safety glasses, unplug the unit before soldering, solder in a well ventilated area, etc when working on your gear. When you're done soldering, always wash your hands because solder contains lead. Please note that replacing the relays will fix the receiver only if the relay was the problem to start with.
